COMES NOW the plaintiff, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, by and through its counsel, Karen P. Hewitt, United States Attorney, and Peter J. Mazza, Assistant United States Attorney, and hereby files its response to the motion to compel discovery and to preserve evidence filed by Defendant Luz Maria Casarez ("Defendant"). Said response is based upon the files and records of this case, together with the attached statement of facts and accompanying memorandum of points and authorities.

I

STATEMENT OF THE CASEA. THE CHARGE

On June 11, 2008, a grand jury sitting in the Southern District of California returned a one-count Indictment against Defendant, charging Defendant with possession of marijuana with the intent to distribute, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 841(a)(1). On June 12, 2008, Defendant was arraigned on the Indictment.

B. STATUS OF DISCOVERY

On June 23, 2008, the Government produced approximately 37 pages of written discovery to Defendant. The documents that have been produced constitute all discoverable material that the Government has to date, and includes, inter alia: (1) investigative reports; (2) Defendant's criminal history; and (3) photographs taken throughout the investigation.

II

STATEMENT OF FACTS

In Defendant's motion addressed herein, Defendant does not raise any factual issues. Therefore, the Government relies upon the reports provided to counsel in discovery to provide a factual basis for this response and opposition.

III

POINTS AND AUTHORITIESA. DISCOVERY

In an attempt at simplification, this memorandum will address two specific areas of discovery: (1) items which the Government

1 either has provided or will voluntarily provide; and (2) items
2 demanded and discussed by Defendant which go beyond the strictures 3 of Rule 16 and are not discoverable.

4 1. Items Which The Government Has Already 5 Provided Or Will Voluntarily Provide

6 a. The Government will disclose to Defendant and 7 make available for inspection, copying or photographing: any 8 relevant written or recorded statements made by Defendant, or 9 copies thereof, within the possession, custody, or control of the 10 Government, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of 11 due diligence may become known, to the attorney for the 12 Government; and that portion of any written record containing the 13 substance of any relevant oral statement made by Defendant whether 14 before or after arrest in response to interrogation by any person 15 then known to Defendant to be a Government agent. The Government 16 will also to Defendant the substance of any other relevant oral 17 statement made by Defendant whether before or after arrest in 18 response to interrogation by any person then known by Defendant to 19 be a Government agent if the Government intends to use that 20 statement at trial.

21 b. The Government will permit Defendant to 22 inspect and copy or photograph books, papers, documents, 23 photographs, tangible objects, buildings or places, or copies or 24 portions thereof, which are within the possession, custody or 25 control of the Government, and which are material to the 26 preparation of Defendant's defense or are intended for use by the 27

1 Government as evidence during its case-in-chief at trial, or were 2 obtained from or belong to Defendant;^{1/}

3 c. The Government will permit Defendant to 4 inspect and copy or photograph any results or reports of physical 5 or mental examinations, and of scientific tests or experiments, or 6 copies thereof, which are in the possession, custody or control of 7 the Government, the existence of which is known, or by the 8 exercise of due diligence may become known, to the attorney for 9 the Government, and which are material to the preparation of his 10 defense or are intended for use by the Government as evidence 11 during its case-in-chief at trial;^{2/}

12 d. The Government has furnished to Defendant a 13 copy of his prior criminal record, which is within its possession, 14 custody or control, the existence of which is known, or by the 15 exercise of due diligence may become known to the attorney for the 16 Government;

17 e. The Government will disclose the terms of all 18 agreements (or any other inducements) with cooperating witnesses, 19 if any are entered into;

20 _____
21 ^{1/} Rule 16(a)(1)(C) authorizes defendants to examine only 22 those Government documents material to the preparation of their 23 defense against the Government's case-in-chief. United States v.
24 Armstrong, 116 S. Ct. 1480 (1996). Further, Rule 16 does not require the disclosure by the prosecution of evidence it intends to use in rebuttal. United States v. Givens, 767 F.2d 574 (9th Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 474 U.S. 953 (1985).

25 ^{2/} The Government does not have "to disclose every single 26 piece of paper that is generated internally in conjunction with 27 scientific tests." United States v. Iglesias, 881 F.2d 1519 (9th Cir. 1989), cert. denied, 493 U.S. 1088 (1990).

1 f. The Government may disclose the statements of 2 witnesses to be called in its case-in-chief when its trial 3 memorandum is filed;^{3/}

4 g. The Government will disclose any record of 5 prior criminal convictions that could be used to impeach a 6 Government witness prior to any such witness' testimony;

7 h. The Government will disclose in advance of 8 trial the general nature of other crimes, wrongs, or acts of 9 Defendant that it intends to introduce at trial pursuant to Rule 10 404(b) of the Federal Rules of Evidence;

11 i. The Government acknowledges and recognizes its 12 continuing obligation to disclose exculpatory evidence and 13 discovery as required by Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), 14 Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972), Jencks and Rules 12 15

16 ^{3/} Production of these statements is governed by the Jencks 17 Act and need occur only after the witness testifies on direct 18 examination. United States v. Mills, 641 F.2d 785, 789-790 (9th 19 Cir.), cert. denied, 454 U.S. 902 (1981); United States v.
20 Dreitzler, 577 F.2d 539, 553 (9th Cir. 1978), cert. denied, 440 21 U.S. 921 (1979); United States v. Walk, 533 F.2d 417, 418-419 (9th 22 Cir. 1975). For Jencks Act purposes, the Government has no 23 obligation to provide the defense with statements in the 24 possession of a state agency. United States v. Durham, 941 F.2d 25 858 (9th Cir. 1991). Prior trial testimony does not fall within 26 the scope of the Jencks Act. United States v. Isigro, 974 F.2d 27 1091, 1095 (9th Cir. 1992). Further, an agent's recorded radio transmissions made during surveillance are not discoverable under the Jencks Act. United States v. Bobadilla-Lopez, 954 F.2d 519 (9th Cir. 1992). The Government will provide the grand jury transcripts of witnesses who have testified before the grand jury if said testimony relates to the subject matter of their trial testimony. Finally, the Government reserves the right to withhold the statement of any particular witness it deems necessary until after the witness testifies.

1 and 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, and will abide 2 by their dictates.^{4/}

3 2. Items Which Go Beyond The Strictures Of Rule 16

4 a. The Requests By The Defendants For Specific 5 Brady Information Or General Rule 16
6 Discovery Should Be Denied

7 Defendant requests that the Government disclose all evidence 8 favorable to him, which tends to exculpate him, or which may be 9 relevant to any possible defense or contention they might assert.

10 It is well-settled that prior to trial, the Government must 11 provide a defendant in a criminal case with evidence that is both 12 favorable to the accused and material to guilt or punishment.
13 Pennsylvania v. Richie, 480 U.S. 39, 57 (1987); United States v.
14 Agurs, 427 U.S. 97 (1976); Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83, 87
15 (1963). As the Court explained in United States v. Agurs, 427
16 U.S. 97, 104 (1976), "a fair analysis of the holding in Brady 17 indicates that implicit in the requirement of materiality is a 18 concern that the suppressed evidence may have affected the outcome 19 of the trial." Thus, under Brady, "evidence is material only if 20 there is a reasonable probability that, had the evidence been 21 ^{4/} Brady v. Maryland requires the Government to produce all 22 evidence that is material to either guilt or punishment. Brady v.

23 Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963). The Government's failure to provide 24 the information required by Brady is constitutional error only if 25 the information is material, that is, only if there is a 26 reasonable probability that the result of the proceeding would 27 have been different had the information been disclosed. Kyles v.
28 Whitley, 115 S. Ct. 1555 (1995). However, neither Brady nor Rule 16 require the Government to disclose inculpatory information to the defense. United States v. Arias-Villanueva, 998 F.2d 1491 disclosed to the defense, the result of the proceeding would have been different." United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. 667, 682 (1985) (emphasis added). A "reasonable probability" is a probability sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome. Pennsylvania v. Richie, 480 U.S. at 57 (quoting United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. at 682).
(9th Cir. 1993).

The Supreme Court has repeatedly held that the Brady rule is not a rule of discovery; rather, it is a rule of fairness and is based upon the requirement of due process. United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. at 675, n. 6; Weatherford v. Bursey, 429 U.S. at 559; United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. at 108. The Supreme Court's analysis of the limited scope and purpose of the Brady rule, as set forth in the Bagley opinion, is worth quoting at length:

Its purpose is not to displace the adversary system as the primary means by which truth is uncovered, but to ensure that a miscarriage of justice does not occur. [footnote omitted]. Thus, the prosecutor is not required to deliver his entire file to defense counsel,^{5/} but only to disclose evidence favorable to the accused that, if suppressed, would deprive the defendant of a fair trial: "For unless the omission deprived the defendant of a fair trial, there was no constitutional violation requiring that the verdict be set aside; and absent a constitutional violation, there was no breach of the prosecutor's constitutional duty to disclose . . . but to reiterate a critical point, the prosecutor will

^{5/} See United States v. Agurs, 427 U.S. 97, 106 (1976); Moore v. Illinois, 408 U.S. 786, 795 (1972). See also California v. Trombetta, 467 U.S. 479, 488, n. 8 (1984). An interpretation of Brady to create a broad, constitutionally required right of discovery "would entirely alter the character and balance of our present system of criminal justice." Giles v. Maryland, 386 U.S. 66, 117 (1967) (Harlan, J., dissenting). Furthermore, a rule that the prosecutor commits error by any failure to disclose evidence favorable to the accused, no matter how insignificant, would impose an impossible burden on the prosecutor and would undermine the interest in the finality of judgements.

1 not have violated his constitutional duty of disclosure 2 unless his omission is of sufficient significance to result in the denial of the defendant's right to a fair trial."

3 United States v. Bagley, 473 U.S. at 675 (quoting United States v.
4 Agurs, 427 U.S. at 108) (emphasis added); see also Pennsylvania v.
5 Richie, 480 U.S. at 59 ("A defendant's right to discover 6 exculpatory evidence does not include the unsupervised authority 7 to search through the Commonwealth's files."). Accordingly, the 8 Government in this case will comply with the Brady mandate but 9 rejects any affirmative duty to create or seek out evidence for 10 the defense.

11 b. Defendants' Motion For Disclosure Of Witness 12 Information Should Be Denied Except As Is Agreed To By The Government

13 Defendant seeks numerous records and information pertaining 14 to potential Government witnesses. Regarding these individuals, 15 the Government will provide Defendant with the following items 16 prior to any such individual's trial testimony:

17 (1) The terms of all agreements (or any other 18 inducements) it has made with cooperating witnesses, if they are 19 entered into;

20 (2) All relevant exculpatory evidence 21 concerning the credibility or bias of Government witnesses as 22 mandated by law; and,

23 (3) Any record of prior criminal convictions 24 that could be used to impeach a Government witness.

25 The Government opposes disclosure of rap sheet information of 26 any Government witness prior to trial because of the prohibition 27

1 contained in the Jencks Act. See United States v. Taylor, 2 542 F.2d 1023, 1026 (8th Cir. 1976), cert. denied, 429 U.S. 1074
3 (1977). Furthermore, any uncharged prior misconduct attributable 4 to Government witnesses, all promises made to and consideration 5 given to witnesses by the Government, and all threats of 6 prosecution made to witnesses by the Government will be disclosed 7 if required by the doctrine of Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 8 (1963) and Giglio v. United States, 450 U.S. 150 (1972).

9 c. The Rough Notes Of Our Agents

10 Although the Government has no objection to the preservation 11 of agents' handwritten notes, we object to their production at 12 this time. Further, the Government objects to any pretrial 13 hearing concerning the production of rough notes. If during any 14 evidentiary proceeding, certain rough notes become relevant, these 15 notes will be made available.

16 Prior production of these notes is not necessary because they 17 are not "statements" within the meaning of the Jencks Act unless 18 they comprise both a substantially verbatim narrative of a 19 witness' assertions and they have been approved or adopted by the 20 witness. United States v. Spencer, 618 F.2d 605, 606-07 (9th Cir.
21 1980); see also United States v. Kaiser, 660 F.2d 724, 731-32
22 (9th Cir. 1981); United States v. Griffin, 659 F.2d 932, 936-38
23 (9th Cir. 1981).

24 d. Government Reports, Summaries, And Memoranda

25 Rule 16, in pertinent part, provides:

26 [T]his rule does not authorize the discovery or 27 inspection of reports, memoranda, or other internal 28

1 government documents made by the attorney for the 2 government or other government agent in connection with the investigating or prosecuting of the case.

3 Rule 16(a)(2); see also United States v. Sklaroff, 323 F. Supp.
 4 296, 309 (S.D. Fla. 1971), and cases cited therein (emphasis 5 added); United States v. Garrison, 348 F. Supp. 1112, 1127-28
 6 (E.D. La. 1972).

7 The Government, as expressed previously, recognizes and 8 embraces its obligations pursuant to Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S.
 9 83 (1963), Giglio v. United States, 450 U.S. 150 (1972), Rule 16, 10 and the Jencks Act.^{6/} We shall not, however, turn over internal 11 memoranda or reports which are properly regarded as work product 12 exempted from pretrial disclosure.^{7/} Such disclosure is supported 13 neither by the Rules of Evidence nor case law and could compromise 14 other areas of investigation still being pursued.

15 e. Defendants Are Not Entitled To Addresses
 16 Of Government Witnesses

17 Defendant requests the name and last known address of each 18 prospective Government witness. While the Government may supply 19 a tentative witness list with its trial memorandum, it objects to 20 providing home addresses. See United States v. Sukumolachan, 610
 21 F.2d 685, 688 (9th Cir. 1980), and United States v. Conder, 423

22 ^{6/} Summaries of witness interviews conducted by Government 23 agents (DEA 6, FBI 302) are not Jencks Act statements. United 24 States v. Claiborne, 765 F.2d 784, 801 (9th Cir. 1985). The production of witness interview is addressed in more detail below.

25 ^{7/} The Government recognizes that the possibility remains 26 that some of these documents may become discoverable during the 27 course of the trial if they are material to any issue that is raised.

1 F.2d 904, 910 (9th Cir. 1970) (addressing defendant's request for 2 the addresses of actual Government witnesses). A request for the 3 home addresses of Government witnesses is tantamount to a request 4 for a witness list and, in a non-capital case, there is no legal 5 requirement that the Government supply defendant with a list of 6 the witnesses it expects to call at trial. United States v.
 7 Thompson, 493 F.2d 305, 309 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 419 U.S. 835
 8 (1974); United States v. Glass, 421 F.2d 832, 833 (9th Cir.
 9 1969).^{8/}

10 The Ninth Circuit addressed this issue in United States v.
 11 Jones, 612 F.2d 453 (9th Cir. 1979), cert. denied, 445 U.S. 966 12 (1980). In Jones, the court made it clear that, absent a showing 13 of necessity by the defense, there should be no pretrial 14 disclosure of the identity of Government witnesses. Id. at 455.
 15 Several other Ninth Circuit cases have reached the same 16 conclusion. See, e.g., United States v. Armstrong, 621 F.2d 951, 17 1954 (9th Cir. 1980); United States v. Sukumolachan, 610 F.2d at 18 687; United States v. Paseur, 501 F.2d 966, 972 (9th Cir. 1974)

19
 21 ^{8/} Even in a capital case, the defendant is only entitled 22 to receive a list of witnesses three days prior to commencement of 23 trial. 18 U.S.C. § 3432. See also United States v. Richter, 488 24 F.2d 170 (9th Cir. 1973)(holding that defendant must make an 25 affirmative showing as to need and reasonableness of such 26 discovery). Likewise, agreements with witnesses need not be 27 turned over prior to the testimony of the witness, United States
v. Rinn, 586 F.2d 1113 (9th Cir. 1978), and there is no obligation to turn over the criminal records of all witnesses. United States
v. Taylor, 542 F.2d 1023, 1026 (8th Cir. 1976); United States v.
Egger, 509 F.2d 745 (9th Cir.), cert. denied, 423 U.S. 842 (1975);
United States v. Cosby, 500 F.2d 405 (9th Cir. 1974).

1 ("A defendant is not entitled as a matter of right to the name and 2 address of any witness.").

3 f. Motion Pursuant To Rule 12(d)

4 Defendant is hereby notified that the Government intends to 5 use in its case-in-chief at trial all evidence which Defendant is 6 entitled to discover under Rule 16, subject to any relevant 7 limitations prescribed in Rule 16.

8 g. Defendant's Motion For Disclosure Of 9 Oral Statements Made To Non-Government
Witnesses Should Be Denied

10 Defendants are not entitled to discovery of oral statements 11 made by them to persons who were not - at the time such statements 12 were made - known by the defendants to be Government agents. The 13 plain language of Rule 16 supports this position. Rule 16 14 unambiguously states that defendants are entitled to "written and 15 recorded" statements made by them. The rule limits discovery of 16 oral statements to "that portion of any written record containing 17 the substance of any relevant oral statement made by the defendant 18 whether before or after arrest in response to interrogation by any 19 person then known to the defendant to be a Government agent," and 20 "the substance of any other relevant oral statement made by the 21 defendant whether before or after arrest in response to 22 interrogation by any person then known by the defendant to be a 23 Government agent if the Government intends to use that statement 24 at trial." The statutory language clearly means that oral 25 statements are discoverable only in very limited circumstances, 26 and then, only when made to a known Government agent.

1 h. Personnel Files Of Federal Agents

2 Pursuant to United States v. Henthorn, 931 F.2d 29 (9th Cir.
3 1991), and United States v. Cadet, 727 F.2d 1453 (9th Cir. 1984), 4 the Government agrees to review the personnel files of its federal 5 law enforcement witnesses and to "disclose information favorable 6 to the defense that meets the appropriate standard of materiality 7" United States v. Cadet, 727 F.2d at 1467-68. Further, 8 if counsel for the United States is uncertain about the 9 materiality of the information within its possession, the material 10 will be submitted to the court for in-camera inspection and 11 review. In this case, the Government will ask the affected law 12 enforcement agency to conduct the reviews and report their 13 findings to the prosecutor assigned to the case. In United States 14 v. Jennings, 960 F.2d 1488 (9th Cir. 1992), the Ninth Circuit held 15 that the Assistant U.S. Attorney assigned to the prosecution of 16 the case has no duty to personally review the personnel files of 17 federal law enforcement witnesses. In Jennings, the Ninth Circuit 18 found that the present Department of Justice procedures providing 19 for a review of federal law enforcement witness personnel files by 20 the agency maintaining them is sufficient compliance with 21 Henthorn. Jennings, 960 F.2d at 1492. In this case, the 22 Government will comply with the procedures as set forth in 23 Jennings.

24 Finally, the Government has no duty to examine the personnel 25 files of state and local officers because they are not within the 26
27
28

1 possession, custody or control of the Federal Government. United 2 States v. Dominguez-Villa, 954 F.2d 562 (9th Cir. 1992).

3 i. Reports Of Witness Interviews

4 Defendant has requested the production of all reports 5 generated in connection with witness interviews. To date, the 6 Government does not have any reports regarding witness interviews 7 or otherwise that have not been turned over to Defendant.
8 However, to the extent that such additional reports regarding 9 witness interviews are generated, the information sought by 10 Defendant is not subject to discovery under the Jencks Act, 18 11 U.S.C., Section 3500. In Jencks v. United States, 353 U.S. 657
12 (1957), the Supreme Court held that a criminal defendant had a due 13 process right to inspect, for impeachment purposes, statements 14 which had been made to government agents by government witnesses.
15 Such statements were to be turned over to the defense at the time 16 of cross-examination if their contents related to the subject 17 matter of the witness' direct testimony, and if a demand had been 18 made for specific statements of the witness. Id. at 1013-15. The 19 Jencks Act, 18 U.S.C., Section 3500, was enacted in response to 20 the Jencks decision. As the Supreme Court stated in an early 21 interpretation of the Jencks Act:

22 Not only was it strongly feared that disclosure of memoranda 23 containing the investigative agent's interpretations and 24 impressions might reveal the inner workings of the 25 investigative process and thereby injure the national 26 interest, but it was felt to be grossly unfair to allow the 27 defense to use statements to impeach a witness which could 28 not fairly be said to be the witness' own rather than the product of the investigator's selections, interpretations, and interpolations. The committee reports of the Houses and the floor debates clearly manifest the intention to avoid

1 these dangers by restricting the production to those 2 statements defined in the bill.

3 Palermo v. United States, 360 U.S. 343, 350 (1959). Having 4 examined the legislative history and intent behind enactment of 5 the Jencks Act, the Court concluded, "[t]he purpose of the Act, 6 its fair reading and its overwhelming legislative history compel 7 us to hold that statements of a government witness made to an 8 agent of the government which cannot be produced under the terms 9 of 18 U.S.C. § 3500, cannot be produced at all."

10 Reports generated in connection with a witness's interview 11 session are only subject to production under the Jencks Act if the 12 witness signed the report, or otherwise adopted or approved the 13 contents of the report. See 18 U.S.C. § 3500(e)(1); see also 14 United States v. Miller, 771 F.2d 1219, 1231-31 (9th Cir. 1985)
15 ("The Jencks Act is, by its terms, applicable only to writings 16 which are signed or adopted by a witness and to accounts which are 17 substantially verbatim recitals of a witnesses' oral 18 statements."); United States v. Friedman, 593 F.2d 109, 120 (9th 19 Cir. 1979) (an interview report that contains a summary of a 20 witness' statements is not subject to discovery under the Jencks 21 Act); United States v. Augenblick, 393 U.S. 248, 354-44 (1969) 22 (rough notes of witness interview not a "statement" covering 23 entire interview). Indeed, "both the history of the [Jencks Act] 24 and the decisions interpreting it have stressed that for 25 production to be required, the material should not only reflect 26 the witness' own words, but should also be in the nature of a 27 complete recital that eliminates the possibility of portions being

1 selected out of context." United States v. Bobadilla-Lopez, 954 2 F.2d 519, 522 (9th Cir. 1992). As recognized by the Supreme 3 Court, "the [Jencks Act] was designed to eliminate the danger of 4 distortion and misrepresentation inherent in a report which merely 5 selects portions, albeit accurately, from a lengthy oral recital." 6 Id. The defendants should not be allowed access to reports which 7 they cannot properly use to cross-examine the Government's 8 witnesses.

9 j. Expert Witnesses

10 The Government will disclose to Defendant the name, 11 qualifications, and a written summary of testimony of any expert 12 the Government intends to use during its case-in-chief at trial 13 pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 702, 703, or 705 three weeks prior to 14 the scheduled trial date.

15 k. Defendant's Motion for Discovery of Wiretap
16 Information

17 Defendant specifically requests all evidence derived from any 18 wiretaps employed by Government agents during the course of this 19 investigation. (Def.'s Mot., 11.) As acknowledged by Defendant, 20 no wiretaps have been used in this case.

21 l. Other Discovery Requests

22 To the extent that the above does not answer all of 23 Defendant's discovery requests, the Government opposes the motions 24 on the grounds that there is no authority requiring us to provide 25 such material.

IV

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Government requests that Defendant's motions be denied where indicated.

DATED: August 15, 2008

Respectfully submitted,

KAREN P. HEWITT
United States Attorney
